Enter Evidence in the Field

Officers, detectives, and crime scene can enter evidence in the field from any computer with an Internet connection. They can even print the barcode labels and inventory sheet from a portable printer.

The Judicial System

Many agencies choose to give the district attorney's office access to the EvidenceOnQ to assist them with charging decisions, trial preparation, and disposition of cases. They can view the evidence and any photos or electronic documents, then submit requests for items. This reduces the phone calls and trips to the evidence room for viewing.

Remote Locations

Agencies can enter evidence from remote substations or any location without having to install the desktop client on the PC.

Evidence Entry...

Crime scenes and search warrants are often long and hectic. Evidence is collected during a long period of time and in many places. WebView 6.0 maintains a work list of all the evidence you have entered, allowing you to start and stop at any time without losing work. You can even shut down your computer and move to a new location.

Reduced IT Overhead

WebView 6.0 will save installation time and give users instant access. Agencies with a large number of PCs or remote substations will no longer be required to install a desktop client on every computer. Installation and maintenance is a snap.
